SALT! SALT

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, OCT 15 1863

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

Democratic Fusion

The recent attempts to mix and melt together the separate factions of the Democratic party as it existed in Oregon, before the war, have entirely failed This result seems not to disturb the Eugene City Review which says that a recent meeting in Dallas planned for the purpose of giving practical effect to this scheme of fusion was abortive, and expresses the hope that 'the signal failure which attended that attempt to fasten a mortal incubus upon the Democratic party, will serve as a warning to all who have felt any inclination to embark in similar schemes" It seems to look, therefore, as if there could be no union or fusion unless the men who have pretended to be somewhat actuated by motives of patriotism should abandon all such professions, and go without any reservation or expression of loyalty into the ranks of the allies of rebellion Perhaps even this may not be possible, for the same paper says the great majority of its party brethren are not again going to be gulled, hoodwinked and betrayed by a faction of unprincipled spoil hunters, who have time and again proven themselves utterly unworthy of confidence, belief or fellowship"

Under these imputations, and with the prospect of a bitterly cool reception from the simon pure confederates—who, wrong and treasonable as their words and actions may be, are at least consistent in their opposition to the Government, we do not see how the politicians who want to be known as Democrats, while they lack courage to declare themselves traitors, can expect to gain admittance to the councils of the hard and unmitigated Democracy, of which the Review is the organ Perhaps, however, we shall find that their admiration of their old party is sufficiently strong to induce them to surrender all claim to loyalty, this may be so with a few leaders, as their action already shows that the ties which hold them to the Union, and the motives which prompt them to care for its preservation, are very feeble, and liable to be overcome, as soon as they imagine that they discover any chance for political success in any other direction We do not, however believe that the mass of the people, who once followed the fortunes of the old Democratic party, will be disposed any longer to yield submission to its present treasonable managers They have at last found that its course tends to national misery and ruin, and even though they may not approve all the acts of the administration, and may feel convinced that some of its functionaries have proved themselves unworthy of the positions, which unfortunately, they have managed to secure yet the people who think for themselves, will be unwilling for the sake of avoiding minor evils and mischief, to give power and influence to a party, that avows its desire and determination to gain peace by the sacrifice of national integrity

We are not sorry that these demonstrations have been made, for, though we should have been glad if all who professed Union sentiments had continued to work together in good faith, yet, if any were insincere, and their professions were a mere cloak to enable them to deceive, it is better that they should leave our ranks at once, and go, like Judas, to their own place. Some of them seem already very effectually to have hanged themselves, and if there are any others of their way of thinking, who love Democracy more than patriotism, we hope they will go and do likewise

UPHILL WORK —The Olympia Standard has again been glorifying its upright and patriotic patron—the immaculate Surveyor General Such an endorsement has immense weight, and ought to exercise a tremendous influence in favor of "the personal friend of the President," who, like most other men, has some very worthless acquaintances, whose friendship is of no value, and may do him a positive injury, in the estimation of those, whose judgment is based upon what they know of his chosen associates

The Standard boasts that Henry's official conduct has been blameless, though it does not state whether it includes his services as a Democratic Deputy under Surveyor General Tilton and the little matter of his attempt to get his work approved without actual examination That was crafty, if not honest, but being done when he was on the other side we suppose his object was not so much to make money as to throw odium upon his party, and thus lay a foundation for a claim to Republican patronage

The most stupendous falsehood—and one so absurdly ridiculous as to provoke a laugh whenever read—in the whole long article, is the statement that Henry is "a man, whose official and personal department are characterized by rectitude and justice"! If the Standard can make any body in Oregon or Washington, who knows him, believe that, it can take the premium for being the most sublime humbug on the coast and shall have the general recommendation of this community as the successful rival of the unequalled Barnum

WESTERN SOLDIERS —A Memphis correspondent writes

It would amuse you to watch the Western soldiers that are returning to their regiments I asked one of them if he would not like to have stood longer, and he answered that he was homesick to get back to his regiment 'Yes,' said another, who had overheard him, 'your best friends are there' You're right there, 'he replied, and then followed such a torrent of invective, curses, contempt and bitterest hatred against the Copperheads as would do credit to an Abolition King Lear It was refreshing to see travel from Indianapolis to Memphis in company with returning soldiers and not hear a single curse for the Administration, the Secretary of War, the Abolitionists In Washington one can scarcely go into a bar room, a hotel or any place where officers congregate without hearing more or less of this unmanly, ungenerous censure Just so not to call it cowardly croaking I believe John A Logan is the exponent—the representative man—of this army His creed consists of a single idea—to support the Administration cordially and unqualifiedly Nothing more Give all our energies, time, talents, property and influence to the support of the measures adopted by the Government You cannot change them There is no time to discuss them—We must fight—not talk Let the next President take care of itself It is our business to support and encourage the present Administration Its members, studying at the head sources of information must necessarily be better judges what to do than we are By energetic and implicit obedience we may do much, by lukewarmness and discussion and temporizing nothing The rebellion must be crushed, and there is only one way in which it can be done while there are forty ways in which it may not be done These sentiments, coming from John A Logan a life long Democrat of the hardest shell, and one who, from the county reference he makes to the negro question, would seem at least to be unsettled in his mind as to it, are producing marked influence in Southern Illinois, and everywhere they are read

A NEW COD FISHERY —The following may be suggestive to some of the experienced old "Shell backs," of this State and Washington Territory, who know how to make the business referred to profitable We have no doubt that there is a handsome fortune in it for somebody, and we should be glad to hear that it is secured by the hardy fishermen of Oregon and Puget Sound

It has been known to whalemen for some years past that good cod fishing grounds existed on the Pacific coast, some fifteen days sailing from the Russian port of Petropaulovski The first fruits of these fisheries, so far as we have any knowledge, arrived at this port a short time since in the brig Pinondra which brought in some fifteen tons of the genuine article, equal in quality to the best ever caught on the Atlantic coast An extensive fishing ground of the description in the Pacific ocean must soon become of vast importance not only in an economical point of view, but also as a nursery for seamen It is chiefly from our fishing grounds that the Government, in its present emergency, has been enabled to obtain the great number of seamen needed to man our rapidly augmenting navy We need just such a field in this quarter of the globe as a nursery for the future commerce that must grow up in the Pacific ocean It will be wisdom and economy for Government to protect and encourage it, by bounties, as heretofore at the East —Mining and Scientific Press

WHAT REBELS SAY —The Richmond Examiner, speaking of Quantrell's infernal massacre, says

The expedition to Lawrence was a gallant and perfectly fair blow at the enemy, but, as it fell heavy upon him, and as the population of Kansas is malignant and scoundrelly beyond description no doubt can be entertained but that it will be made the excuse and pretext of every atrocity in Missouri, until the Confederate leaders do what they ought to have done, and what they are falsely accused of doing, A resort to lex talionis, in its most decisive form, is the only hope of safety in Missouri, as it soon will be everywhere.

The rebel idea that this barbarous massacre was a gallant and fair blow is exactly in accordance with the expositions of some of the Confederate sympathizers in our city, one of whom remarked with an oath when he heard of it, that he was only sorry that any man, woman or child escaped and that he hoped 'before the war was over, Lawrence would be laid in ashes, smooth with the ground"

"PROVIDENCE HAS SENT A FEW MEN INTO THE WORLD," &c.—A correspondent of the Historical Magazine, says

Till recently I had, with some others, ascribed the remarkable expression at the end of this paper to one of our Revolutionary patriots, to Patrick Henry or Jefferson It was the dying utterance of one of the bravest and sincerest of English republicans, Richard Rumbold, an officer in Cromwell's own regiment, and who was on guard of the scaffold when Charles was executed

He was implicated in the Rye House plot, was associated in the attempt to raise the Scotch by the Earl of Argyle, who left his dying testimony to the virtues of his gallant confederate Both were taken and executed in Edinburgh within a few hours of each other

Rumbold was mortally wounded, and so near death that he had to be supported on the scaffold To the vulgar abuse of a Privy Councillor, he replied "I am at peace with God, how then can I be confounded?" He said, He never could believe that Providence had sent a few men into the world ready booted and spurred to ride and millions ready saddled and bridled to be ridden

BOISE ITEMS —We condense the following items from the Idaho Acorn of the 24th ult

Snow is plainly visible on the higher points at the heads of Moores and Grimes' creeks

Wagons loaded with vegetables from Salt Lake have arrived at Bannock

Two schools are being taught at Bannock and religious services are had in town every Sunday by Elder Kendall of the Presbyterian and Rev Father Poulon of the Catholic Church

A wagon loaded with eggs and chickens arrived in the mines a month or so since Eggs brought $10 and chickens $5 each Chickens have come down to $36 per dozen but eggs maintain former rates, with an upward tendency

Two campaign papers—one Democratic and the other Union—are to be published at Bannock during the canvass for Delegate

An enterprising printer has brought a printing press all the way from Pike's Peak, and proposes to establish a paper at some point in the Beaver Head country

A party of Snake Indians made a descent on Warm Spring Reservation on the night of the 8th inst, and drove off 130 head of horses

THE CONSTITUTION AND THE WAR POWER —The latter day Democracy who are so loud in their and enthusiastic in defense of the Constitution as it is and so vehement in their denunciations of the Union party in general, and the Administration in particular, sometimes excite in themselves in their zealous advocacy of that instrument, and show instead of familiarity with their total ignorance of its nature and provisions

The Constitution is really a great war instrument—not less than an instrument of peace—and they who quote its provisions in order to embarrass the Government under it in carrying on a just war are themselves guilty of an endeavor to bring the Constitution into discredit Their representations are as false as their purpose is wicked

Our Constitution like the people for whom it was made, is, it is true, adapted to a state of peace Our fathers—its founders—expected and intended that this would be pre eminently a peaceful nation, and, according ly, they made full and fair provisions for this national condition But they also knew full well, not only by reason and the example of all national history, but also by their own blood bought experience, that ability in war is a condition precedent to continued peace, and accordingly embodied in the Constitution and in the Government thereby created the most perfect and effective war power that any nation ever possessed Indeed the history of the times when the Constitution was formed shows that the desire to provide and embody effective national war power was the leading motive and purpose in the change from the Articles of Confederation to the Constitution

It was not necessary, nor even proper, to insert in that great instrument a complete war code They who proposed and composed it had too much soundness of judgment to attempt to do so Their large mindedness would not permit them to disfigure their great work, as some politicians would perhaps now do, with petty details But they did insert the most abundant and plain provisions for the exercise, by this nation, of all the functions and powers of war allowable to any nation on the earth We will quote a few of its provisions

The Congress shall have power to define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas and offences against the law of nations, to declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water, to raise and support armies, to provide and maintain a navy, to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces to provide for calling forth the militia [by the President] to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasions. * * * * The Executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America * * * The President shall be Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed"

It is impossible to allow force to these provisions, to attach to these words their plain, simple and obvious signification, and yet deny to this nation, and to its executive agent, all the war power which can rightfully be ever exercised by any nation on earth This power is not abrogated by the peace provisions contained in the same instrument Both stand, and are to be interpreted together—Moreover, the war power in the Constitution is not an abstraction It was not put there for mere purposes of moral suasion, but for an efficient national reliability, capable of expressing, through national action, the nation's power for national purposes, and especially for national salvation, and against the nation's enemies It is not frittered away and lost by subdivisions. Its execution, with the responsibility for its execution, is especially committed to one man, selected by the people themselves, and bound by all the obligations and inducements that can ever attach to man, to do the duty imposed The general duty of obedience to military officers is universally understood. If the people of our Republic owe it to their ordinary officers in war, as a patriotic duty, certainly they can not withhold it from him who is expressly declared by the Constitution to be "Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy" Let no man, who refuses such obedience, or who encourages others to refuse it, boast of his own regard for the Constitution

THE OBJECT OF MORGAN'S RAID —One of the officers who had charge of Gen Morgan and his men after their capture, communicates to a Cincinnati paper the following

The officers were very reluctant but in a conversation held with one of the men who appeared well informed and highly educated I questioned him in regard to the object of the raid and other particulars. He answered that the expedition was planned in April last, and freely discussed, which was not a usual thing when raids were contemplated Morgan was ordered to take only 2 000 men, but drew 900 more and in Kentucky received an addition of 400 or 500 "Our men," said he "are noted for their dash and courage—are the pick of Bragg's army, and represent a great many wealthy and influential families in Kentucky We are all proud and pride, sir, is the mother of courage Of course, we had a few 'scally wags,' (meaning poor white trash, I suppose) among us, for you know, sir, that is inevitable, but as a general thing, sir, we are sons of wealthy parents, and profess to be gentlemen There sir, pointing, is a gentleman who is a graduate of West Point and, sir, he would rather be a private in Morgan's band than an officer in another command There is another, sir, whose mother is worth $250,000 and so I might go on over the whole Why, sir, myself have held office since I was twenty one years old, and resigned for the purpose of fighting in the Southern cause, and there is my brother, too, sir" "Now tell me," said I, "the object of this raid" Well, sir, the object so far as I am able to judge, was to teach the people of the North what war was, and that their States could be invaded as ours have been" "But was it your purpose to invade Ohio when you started?" 'I do not think it was sir, but we got along with so little difficulty in Indiana, we concluded we would try Ohio too, sir' "Yes, and here you are, prisoners but how do you like Ohio, as far as you've got" 'We fared rather badly the last three days, you see, sir, we were somewhat in a hurry, and hadn't time to partake of the hospitalities at hand, sir, but, so far as I am concerned, I am perfectly satisfied, sir" A number of the men, especially the Tennesseans and Texans, expressed a desire to go home and fight no more—others would fight on until a separation was effected They were all very submissive and obedient, and seemed glad of their capture

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to October 9.

NEW YORK, Oct 9—Money easy at 6@7, Sterling dull at 11 Gold Brimmer at 147, Government Stocks less active and scarcely so firm

The transport Costen from Charleston Bar on the morning of the 6th has arrived The monitors Patapsco and Nahant are at Port Royal Gen Gilmore was hard at work, but the navy was quiet

The correspondent of the Baltimore American writing from the fleet, says All quiet except occasional firing from the rebel forts Gilmore's preparations are nearly completed

NEW YORK, Oct 9—The Washington correspondent of the Commercial states that the recent rebel advance in Kentucky was for prizes to have been an extensive reconnoissance in force, to discover what forces were moving to the support of our army It did not have in view, or at least such was not the result, any serious intention of interrupting our communications, as that, the rebels well knew would bring on an engagement which would end in a serious defeat to them This fact was fully realized by them before their real object was accomplished By this time the rebel cavalry are south of the Tennessee and from present preparations to keep open communication with Chattanooga it is not believed they will run the risk of attacking our lines again

CHICAGO Oct 9—Memphis papers to the 6th contain nothing of importance An expedition from Corinth, on the 27th September, had a sharp engagement with the rebels, chasing them twenty miles, killing six and capturing eight Our loss one killed and two wounded

The Governor of Georgia has issued a proclamation protesting against the seizure of the people's property for the use of the rebel Government except in cases where the authority comes from headquarters He calls on the State to resist in defense of her property

Little Rock advices represent matters there to be in a satisfactory condition

SEDALIA, Mo, Oct 9—Information received to day contradicts the report about the indiscriminate slaughter of citizens at Warsaw The number now said to be killed is 12, many even think this is an exaggeration It is impossible to obtain the truth, perhaps no lives were lost or property destroyed. The town has always been secesh therefore it is not probable that a great amount of damage was done The latest information places the rebels about 12 miles from Syracuse, where it is presumed they will encamp Their number is estimated at 1,500 with two pieces of artillery Major Foster is skirmishing with their rear guard, to-day, wounding two and capturing three The military authorities are using every means to protect the people

YREKA, Oct 10—6 P M —The operator at Weaverville, Trinity county, told me a few minutes ago that the whole town was on fire Since then the wire was burned in two and I cannot get that place. Town probably destroyed. OP YREKA

ITEMS FROM THE UPPER COUNTRY —The following items are from the Walla Walla Statesman of the 10th

The miners on the Columbia are still reported to be doing well—some of them making as high as an ounce per day The gold on all the bars worked is very fine and readily saved by the use of quicksilver and copper plates Miners generally work with rockers, there being but few places along the river where sluices can be set A great drawback to mining on some of the bars is the absence of wood sufficient for fuel

Mr Thos Cantrell has just returned from a prospecting trip in the Blue mountains and reports good paying prospects between the Grand Ronde and Snake river Bad blood between Nez Perces Indians (Old Joe) who recently here, claim the country, and forbid the whites from getting there in mine Old Joe states that the whites have no part in the other Indians for their country and when they have paid him for his they can go there to mine The region of country visited by Mr C is only about 6 miles distant from this place and is the same which Messrs Craig and Spaulding long ago stated, upon Indian authority, was rich in gold

Mr T F Dempy, of Dry Creek, has presented us a large bottle of beautiful sorghum syrup of his own manufacture He constructed a rude cane crushing apparatus from timber hauled from the Blue mountains and although the mill was a rude one, he succeeded in crushing some cane with it and manufactured from the juice of the cane nearly a barrel of delicious syrup He expects to manufacture two or three barrels more of the syrup yet this season

Several pack trains have left for Boise this week on their last trip for the season Trains leaving now can not return before the middle of next month, by which time the mountains will probably be covered with snow Some packers however, talk of making two trips yet

FROM CANYON CITY —Mr. Edgar, the Canyon City expressman, informs us that the parties who left Canyon City to prospect Sinker creek, have returned, and pronounce the whole affair a humbug The same parties report the discovery of gold on the head of Birch creek. A gentleman named Green, who was traveling with the expressman accidentally shot himself on the way down. In attempting to draw his pistol it was discharged the ball from which entered his thigh, causing quite a severe wound —Union Vidette

CITY COUNCIL —This body met last night present, Messrs Saxer, Knott, Watson, Austin, Dodge, Zeiber Monastes and Mr President

Nays—Messrs Austin, Knott, Dodge and Monastes

Mr. Dodge moved to strike Mr Watson's name from the roll Lost Yeas 4 Nays 4

Mr Dodge presented a protest, signed by members of the board, protesting against proceedings of the last meeting of the Board.

A petition of sundry citizens and tax payers, praying that the Common Council erect a number of additional lamp posts and lamps, was read, and on motion, laid on the table

The petition of Geo Abernethy, stating he wishes to improve in front of his property on the corner of Front and Yamhill streets, and praying that the Council may improve the square adjoining the same, was read, and on motion, referred to committee on Streets and Public Property

The President announced several changes of the standing committees

Petitions from sundry merchants, who had paid their licenses previous to the decision of the Supreme Court, were received, praying that their money be refunded, which was, on motion, laid on the table

S D Smith was granted a portion of Morrison street for the space of thirty days, for building purposes

The petition of property owners near Front and Oak streets, stating that they wish to improve that portion of the street, one half at their own, and the other, at the expense of the city, in accordance with the Charter, was referred to committee on Streets and Public Property.

P Raleigh was granted a further time of thirty days for the use of half of Stark street, for building purposes

The report of the City Attorney was read, and ordered filed

A resolution instructing the city collector to make out a list of all persons who had paid their license under Ordinance No 141, and instructing the city treasurer to return the same, was adopted

NECESSITY OF SANITARY REGULATIONS —At this time, when Scarlet Fever and Sore Throat exists almost as an epidemic among the children of our city, it is an important matter that our people should look well to the cleanliness of our streets and door yards It is an established fact, that the accumulation of rubbish and filth, in the vicinity where families reside, always produces disease These remarks have been prompted, by our attention having been called to a lot on the corner of Fifth and Stark streets, which has been made a depositary for manure, etc, and which, a prominent physician pronounces very dangerous to the health of the neighborhood. Will not the proper authorities look after this and similar nuisances, and by their abatement, if in their power, restore health and comfort to the families adjacent

NOT GONE TO SEA YET —Capt Holman, of the steamer John H Couch, informs us that when he left Astoria, the Brother Jonathan had been prevented from going to sea, owing to the heavy south west gales which were prevailing, rendering the Bar unusually rough Two barks, outward bound, were also detained by the same cause.

The Oath of Allegiance

A correspondent of the Cincinnatti Commercial, writing from Head quarters of the Army of the Cumberland at Winchester Tenn , gives the foll wing account of the manner in which the rebels f that section cheat the Government and perjure themselves in taking the oath of allegiance

The utter demoralization existing among the citizens of Tennessee caused by instructions imparted to them by rebel military leaders, and brought to light by the army police, is truly lamentable They have been urged to take the oath of allegiance to the United States, being told that it was a matter of form," and that it would enable them to pass through our lines, gather important information, and return with impunity This system of villainy has been extensively practiced, and the influence of these damnable teachings has spread through all grades of society Men and women, high in the world s esteem, and rich in worldly goods, have repeatedly urged detectives who appeared to be 'secesh,' to take the oath, saying "we have taken it, and will take it every morning for that matter We don t care a d—n for it. Go and take it it will assist you in your operations " (referring to smuggling, spying, etc) These are our Union friends (?) and the inquiry goes forth from every tongue, who can we trust? Hollow smiles hypocrisy perjury and high handed treason are the household gods of these loyal (?) citizens How is it possible that men and women, in this nineteenth century, with the loveliest flag that the sun ever shone upon floating above their heads, their hands resting upon the "book of books," and the Great Eternal looking down upon them declare 'I freely and voluntarily take this solemn oath without any mental reservation or evasion whatsoever, and the penalty of violating the above oath shall be death,' while at the same moment they are plotting treachery and the downfall of our Government—yet such is the case and an view of facts already gathered may be termed a very common practice But let such practitioners remember that sooner or later, a day of reckoning will come

' He of firmest heart and limb
Death may soon at call for him

From the bloody field of Corinth, twenty five perjured souls were summoned into the presence of their maker on each of their mangled bodies was found the oath of allegiance

While we have a species of admiration for the daring rebel who plants himself in our pathway to check our progress, we have nothing but contempt and scorn for the skulking perjurer

We happened to drop into the office of the Army Police this morning and while there Mr D Brazleton a gentleman of influence in these parts, having been invited to attend, entered the office, and was received very warmly by Colonel Wm Truesdale the Chief of the Department, when the following scene occurred

Col T —I am glad to see you Mr Brazleton, I understand that you are a good Union man

Mr B —Yes—yes sir I believe I am

Col T.—You have taken the oath of allegiance, have you not?

Mr B —Oh, yes, I took the oath about a year ago, and have my protection papers at home

Col T —So I have heard and for that reason I have sent for you , I wished to converse with you It does me good to meet our Union friends, and to become acquainted with them I am sorry you did not call to see us when we arrived You might have been of service to our cause

Mr. B —(Gaining confidence) Well the fact is, Colonel, I did intend to call but you know, I live a couple of miles out of town and it was not very convenient for me to leave home

Col T —True It would have been gratifying to our soldiers, however, if you and the rest of our Union friends had met them with shouts and cheers, as they entered the town, and bared your heads to the old flag beneath whose ample folds you were sure to find protection

The conversation was continued for some time in the same free and easy strain Mr B , of course, expressed himself highly delighted with Bragg's inglorious retreat and the presence of our forces

Finally the Colonel said to him

Have you any rebel sympathizers in your neighborhood?

Mr B replied —Well, I hardly know—I can only speak for myself My heart and soul have always been with the Union cause The truth is, Colonel, when our State seceded my brother and myself sat down and reasoned. We concluded to close up our business, and prepare for the great calamity that was about to fall upon us

At this point the Colonel quietly drew from his pocket a captured letter and placed it before the astonished vision of Mr B , from which we make the following extract

WINCHESTER, June 26, 1863

A J Brazelton, Marion Ala

DEAR BROTHER —We have heard that there has been another hard fought battle in Virginia, and Lee has gained another victory I hope it is true, and if Bragg can do likewise here and Johnston at Vicksburg, I think we will have peace in a short time I am glad to hear that your crop is very fine, take good care of it, for we may have to call upon you for help in the way of provisions, if the Yankees overrun this country Your Brother,

DANIEL BRAZELTON

Yes, it was "distressing" to see "Daniel in the lion's den"—to see the man who had "wept" over the misfortunes of our beloved country—sitting there with the 'documents' in his hand, and the flashing eye of the chief reading his inmost heart Imagine the tableau ! (A heartless scamp at my elbow whispered—"How are you, Daniel?") The above is a mild case, but it is sufficient to show the amount of dependence to be placed upon those who take the "oath"

"SEEING IS BELIEVING "—'Ah,' said a skeptical collegian to an old Quaker, "I suppose you are one of those fanatics who believe in the Bible '

Said the old man, "I do believe the Bible Do you believe it?"

"No, I can have no proof of its truth '

"Then," inquired the old man, "does thee believe in France?"

"Yes for although I have not seen it, I have seen others who have Besides there is plenty of corroborative proof that such a country does exist

' Then thee will not believe anything thee or others have not seen? '

"No

"Did thee ever see thine own brains?"

"No."

"Ever see a man who did see them? '

"No "

"Does thee believe thee has any? '

This last question put an end to the discussion.

A STRANGE SCENE IN St LOUIS —Last Thursday afternoon, at St Louis, when the merchants were closing their stores, there marched down to the steamer Metropolitan, four companies of black soldiers going to the field three hundred and thirty black men creating full of soldiers zeal b hind United States transports, with the old flag floating over them The force of Yankee D the which has kept it so well since Bunker Hill was reddened with our ancestors blood rang out upon the air as clearly as when blown by white fifers

Some careful citizens said it would be safer to march the troops from their barracks after nightfall to avoid any disturbance The colonel commanding thought the open day the best time and just as the setting sun was gilding the spires of the city with out molestation or disturbance the first regiment of colored soldiers tied through the streets of St Louis One year ag this would have been an impossibility But the citizens of St Louis have grown wiser and better within the year They have seen a squad of black men go forth brave earnest looking men, with no disorder and drunkenness, and f rward the black brigade' will now be the cry from Missouri Who dares say we are not gaining something by this war —Springfield Republican

"No one should indulge in such h rrid anticipations ' as the henpecked husband said when the parson told him that he would be joined t his wife in another world never to separate from her 'Pars n,' said he ' I beg you won t mention the circumstance again '

AYER'S CHERRY PE...
FOR THE

and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease

We need not speak to the public of its virtues in every town, and almost every family, in the land. Many of its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints are known to all, and the world has long been ready to acknowledge that no other medicine can be found in the catalogue of human remedies which is its equal in the healing of the diseases of the throat and lungs. Many a family in this community has had occasion to bless it for the protection it has afforded against the insidious approach of consumption, and many a life has been saved by the timely use of this antidote. While there are many pretenders to the healing art who are content to trifle with the symptoms of pulmonary disease, the intelligent public have learned that there is no remedy for the cure of the disease itself, except in the use of such medicines as will control the inflammation, heal the ulcerations, and restore the tone of the parts affected. This is the peculiar power of the CHERRY PECTORAL, and hence its superiority over all other medicines for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

We need not speak to the people of Lowell concerning the virtues of this medicine. Its composition and effects are known to many of our citizens, and the wonderful cures it has performed in this community are the subject of general remark. Nor is it necessary to publish the names of our neighbors who have been restored to health by its use, for almost every one has friends or relatives who can speak more eloquently than we can write in its favor. Among the many publications of this character which have appeared in the newspapers, we select the following, which we find in the Boston Traveller. The cures mentioned in it are remarkable, but not more so than those which have been effected in this city and vicinity:
